Item 4: Advisory Business

Barksdale Investment Management is an independent, employee-owned, majority women-owned Registered Investment Advisor under the Investment Advisors Act of 1940. The firm was founded in December 1984 by Weaver C. Barksdale. The firm has distinguished itself in the management of customized fixed income investment management services for institutional investors seeking specialized separate account investment strategies that conform to specific, standards, or government regulations. Barksdale has since grown to also offer equity, core plus, high yield and enhanced cash portfolio management services to clients which now include both institutions and high net worth individuals. In October 2021, Barksdale Investment Management became a WBENC-certified, Women's Business Enterprise (WBE).

As of December 31, 2024, the firm managed or advised $32,626,500,782 for clients, including $3,625,659,374 in assets under management on a discretionary basis and another $841,408 in assets under advisement.

We offer our investment management services on a discretionary basis to clients seeking:

Fixed Income (both taxable & tax-exempt)

Investment Grade

- Core Aggregate
- Intermediate
- Short Duration
- Cash

High Yield

Equity

Diversified Value

International Deep Value

For information regarding these strategies, please contact Jim Murphy at (615) 665-1085 or at JMurphy@Barksdaleim.com

Fixed Income Portfolios: The Barksdale fixed income portfolio management team maintains a robust investment philosophy and process. The process is a blend of top-down and sector/security-specific analysis. We believe it is thorough and balanced, utilizing elements from fundamental, quantitative, and technical analysis to maximize returns within each client's risk tolerance. The degree to which corporate bonds and other risk assets are overweighted at any given time is dependent upon economic and market sector conditions as well as client guidelines.

Equity Portfolios are constructed generally using publicly traded U.S. companies and American depositary receipts that are generally included in the portfolio's comparable index, such as the Standard & Poor's 500 or Russell Value 1000, for example.

Our investment strategies are based on quantitative and qualitative fundamental analysis of companies, driven by income and balance sheet data, as well as other portfolio management techniques. Because the stocks are selected from a group of U.S. publicly traded companies, they are well known entities and afford substantial market liquidity.

In addition to separately managed accounts Barksdale provides equity model delivery services through another, unaffiliated, financial institution (“Sponsor”). We provide the model portfolio to the sponsor and the sponsor utilizes the model portfolio to provide discretionary advisory services to its clients.

Balanced Portfolios consist of a combination of our equity and fixed income techniques with the relative commitment to each asset class being dependent on an assessment of each client's income needs and risk tolerance level.

Barksdale customizes portfolios to meet the specific risk tolerance and guidelines of each client’s portfolio. While the same disciplined investment process is utilized to manage several individual portfolios requiring a certain style, each portfolio is constructed and managed according to the needs of the client. Portfolios are designed to meet each client's specific requirements for liquidity, credit quality, duration, etc. From time to time, an account’s guidelines will change at the initiation of the client, its consultant or the portfolio manager.

Our portfolio management team employs a variety of investment styles, which will differ based on a range of factors including, but not limited to, risk profiles, benchmarks, tax considerations, liquidity needs, time horizons, durations, sector concentrations, and capitalization ranges. Our portfolio management team customizes client portfolios within the same style because of the client’s specific guidelines and how the management team adapts those guidelines to market constraints at any given time. At times, the managers’ decisions reflect an assessment of the suitability of the particular security for a specific client. Such decisions result in different investment returns between investment styles and among accounts managed by the same portfolio manager.

We feel our goals are aligned with those of our clients. Our only source of income is from fees charged for active portfolio management.

Barksdale requires all employees who render investment advice to have obtained an undergraduate degree and a master's degree in economics, finance or business and/or enrollment in the Chartered Financial Analysts (“CFA”) program. The Board of Directors, at its discretion, can waive the educational requirements or CFA enrollment if a prospective employee has sufficient experience to warrant such an exception.

We do not provide investment banking or broker-dealer services.

Item 5: Fees and Compensation

We offer our services on a fee-only basis. We do not receive commissions or mark-ups or mark-downs on securities that we purchase and sell for client account(s). Fees are negotiated and stated in each client agreement.

On most accounts contracted prior to May 1, 2018, our fee is calculated based on the total market value of the assets in the client’s account on the last day of the quarter (based on trade date), unless stated otherwise in the client's Advisory Agreement.

On most accounts contracted after May 1, 2018, our fee is calculated based on the average daily balance of the fair market value of the assets in the client's account during the prior quarter (based on trade date), unless stated otherwise in the client's Advisory Agreement.

Unless directed otherwise by a client, the market value of the fixed income portion of client's account is determined by Bloomberg Valuation Service (BVAL). In instances where BVAL cannot provide a price or Barksdale has determined the price is not reflective of the market, Barksdale will use its valuation policy to determine the price. Equities are determined by the client's Custodian.

Fees are generally billed on a quarterly basis in arrears. If the Advisory Agreement is not in force for a full quarter, the fee for such partial quarter is prorated based on the number of calendar days of the calendar quarter the Advisory Agreement is in effect. Typically, agreements require 30 days' notice for termination.

In some cases, we receive our quarterly fee directly from the client's custodial account. In order for the client's custodian to debit the account for the amount of our quarterly fee, the client must give us authorization in writing either in the Advisory Agreement or by a separate document. We send a quarterly invoice to each client (and/or its representative) that includes the value of the client's assets, our management fee, and how the fee is calculated. Clients are advised to compare our invoice to the custodial statement and verify the calculation of the fee. In the case of a small number of clients for whom Regions Bank serves as the custodian, we charge the client a slightly higher management fee and pay the custodial fee directly to Regions Bank.

Below are our stated investment management fee schedules:

Fixed Income

Investment Grade

- 0.25 of 1% on the first $10 million in assets
- 0.23 of 1% on the next $15 million in assets
- Negotiable on market values in excess of $25 million

High-Yield

- 0.5 of 1% of assets under management

Equity and Balanced

- 0.60 of 1% on the first $10 million in assets
- 0.50 of 1% on the next $15 million in assets
- 0.40 of 1% on the next $25 million in assets
- 0.30 of 1% on the next $50 million in assets

Barksdale generally requires a minimum market value for assets under management of $3 million for investment grade fixed income accounts and $1 million for high yield accounts. For equity accounts, there is a $500,000 minimum. We, at our sole discretion, can accept clients with smaller portfolios based upon certain factors including anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, account composition, related accounts and pre-existing client relationships. We, at our sole discretion, can negotiate fees based on a variety of factors, such as size of account, the complexity of client guidelines and risk tolerances, servicing requirements and geographical location. Employees investing in seed accounts will not be required to pay a fee.

For equity model delivery services, the fee is determined by the agreement with the sponsor and falls within a range of 0.30 and 0.50 of 1% of the value of client assets. There is a minimum market value for assets under management of $50,000 for model delivery.

In addition to our fee, a client will be required to pay its custodian other charges including:

- custodial fees;
- brokerage commissions;
- mark-ups and mark-downs;
- transaction fees;
- internal fees and expenses charged by exchange traded funds (“ETFs”); and
- other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions.

Item 6: Performance-Based Fees & Side-by-Side Management

Barksdale does not charge performance-based fees.

Item 7: Types of Clients

We provide investment management services for employee benefit plans, healthcare entities, insurance companies, charitable organizations, state and local governing bodies, associations, corporations, other investor advisors and a few high net-worth individual. We also provide advisory services for a model portfolio program. We manage these portfolios in accordance with each client's objectives. Barksdale generally requires a minimum market value for assets under management as discussed in Item 5.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

We offer a range of fixed income, equity and balanced investment strategies. Some investment portfolios are managed relative to a benchmark while others are managed to achieve an absolute return. These strategies are described below:

Methods of Analysis

In assessing the securities to be included in a client portfolio, Barksdale's primary analytical focus is on the securities' fundamentals using both quantitative and qualitative techniques. Barksdale relies heavily on its many research models but also utilizes outside research reports and rating services. Please refer to Item 4 for important information related to our portfolio strategies. Note: Investing in securities involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear.

Investment Strategies

Our investment strategies include long-term, intermediate and/or short-term purchases based on the client's objectives and guidelines, which can be changed at any time. Clients can place reasonable restrictions on the strategies to be employed and the types of investments to be held in their accounts. It is important for the client to remember to update us with any changes in investment objectives and guidelines. Although we manage the client's assets in a manner consistent with the client's risk tolerance, there can be no guarantee that our efforts will be successful. Clients should be prepared to bear the risk of loss.

Risk of Loss

All investment strategies involve the risk of loss and there is no guarantee that any investment strategy will meet its objective. Depending on the type of strategy the client is invested in, the client can face the following risks:

- Business Risk: Risk associated with economic, industry and financial circumstances that could affect the price of a company's securities.
- Call Risk: The cash flow risk resulting from the possibility that a callable bond will be redeemed before maturity. A bond that is called by an issuer must be redeemed by the bondholder, usually so that the issuer can issue new bonds at a lower interest rate. This forces the investor to reinvest the principal sooner than expected, possibly at a lower interest rate.
- Credit Risk: Risk resulting in loss of principal or loss of interest payments or dividends stemming from a borrower's failure to repay a loan or otherwise meet a contractual obligation. Credit risk arises whenever a borrower is expecting to use future cash flows to pay a current debt. Investors are compensated for assuming credit risk through interest payments from the issuer of a debt obligation.
- Default Risk: The risk that a bond issuer will default by failing to repay principal and interest in a timely manner. Bonds issued by the U.S. government or a U.S. government agency historically have not defaulted, although there can be no guarantee that a default will not occur in the future. Bonds issued by corporations are more likely to default than bonds issued by the federal government or a municipal issuer because of insufficient cash flow to make interest and principal payments or the potential for insolvency. Municipalities occasionally default, although historically, this has been an infrequent occurrence.
- Diversification Risk: Concentrating investments in one or a few industries or sectors can involve more risk than more diversified investments, including the potential for greater volatility. Selecting diverse investments with different rates of return could offset losses in one area with gains in another.
- Economic Risk: In financing a project, the risk that the project's output will not generate sufficient revenues to cover operating costs and to repay debt obligations.
- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance business operations puts a company's profitability at risk because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations can result in default, bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

- Fixed Income Risks: Portfolios that invest in fixed income securities are subject to several general risks, including interest rate risks, default risks, credit risks and market risks, which could reduce the yield that an investor receives from his or her portfolio. These risks can occur from fluctuations in interest rates, a change to an issuer's individual condition or industry, or events in financial markets.
- High-Yield Fixed-Income Securities Risk: Investments in high-yield rated bonds involve higher risk than investment grade bonds because of higher volatility and a greater risk of default. Adverse conditions can affect the issuer's ability to make timely interest and principal payments on these securities.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar next year will not buy as much as a dollar today because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.
- Interest-Rate Risk: Interest rate risk affects the value of bonds more directly than that of stocks. As interest rates rise, bond prices fall, and, when interest rates decrease, bond prices rise. Similarly, as interest rates fluctuate, stocks can become a more or less attractive alternative relative to bonds.

- Investment Risk: Investment Risk is the probability that an actual return on an investment will be lower than the investor's expectations. All investments have some level of risk associated with them due to the unpredictability of the market's direction.
- Liquidity Risk: When consistent with a client's investment objectives, guidelines, restrictions and risk tolerances, we can invest a portion of a client's portfolio in illiquid securities, subject to applicable investment standards. Investing in an illiquid, or difficult to trade, security could restrict our ability to dispose of an investment in a timely fashion, if at all, or at an advantageous price, which can limit the ability to take full advantage of market opportunities.
- Market Risk: The price of a security can fall in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions can trigger adverse market events.
- Principal Risk: The risk of losing the amount invested due to bankruptcy or default. There is always the possibility that, through some set of circumstances, the principal amount of money invested will lose value or be lost completely. In such case, principal is lost in addition to a share of future profits.
- Reinvestment Risk: The risk that future proceeds from investments can be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e.

interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.

- Small/Mid-Cap Risk: Stocks of small (market capitalization of between $300 million and $2 billion) or mid-cap (market capitalization of between $2 and $10 billion) companies can have less liquidity than those of larger (market capitalization greater than $10 billion), established companies and could be subject to greater price volatility and risk than the overall stock market.

Item 9: Disciplinary Information

We are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of our advisory business or the integrity of our management. We have no reportable disciplinary events to disclose.

Item 10: Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Barksdale is exclusively an investor advisor and provides investment management services to clients on an advisory or sub advisory basis.

Item 11: Code of Ethics; Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

The Code of Ethics sets forth professional behavior which must be followed by all Barksdale employees (access persons), including Barksdale's senior management. Our Code focuses primarily on fiduciary duty, conflicts of interest, insider trading, personal securities transactions along with their reporting, gifts and entertainment, political contributions, charitable donations, confidentiality and outside business interests.

All Barksdale employees must comply with and affirm their understanding of the terms of our Code of Ethics, in writing, upon employment and at least annually.

A copy of Barksdale's Code of Ethics is available upon request.

Fiduciary Duty

The Code includes our policies and procedures in connection with our fiduciary obligations to our clients and requires that we:

- Act in a professional and ethical manner at all times;
- Act for the benefit of clients;
- Act with independence and objectivity;
- Act with skill, competence and diligence;
- Communicate with clients in a timely and accurate manner; and
- Uphold the applicable rules governing capital markets.

Conflicts of Interest

Fiduciary responsibility by an adviser includes, but is not limited to, the duty to disclose material facts that might influence an investor's decision to purchase or refrain from purchasing a security recommended by the adviser or from engaging the adviser to manage the client's investments. An investment adviser should not engage in fraudulent, deceptive, or manipulative conduct, which includes an obligation to disclose material facts to clients whenever the failure to disclose such facts might cause financial harm. An adviser's duty to disclose material facts is particularly important whenever the advice provided to clients involves a conflict or potential conflict of interest between the employees of the adviser and its clients. We are aware that there could be conflicts of interest when our employees engage in business activities away from the firm. We require our employees to disclose any possible conflicts of interest and, in addition, we monitor and assess for any possible conflicts.

Insider Trading

Our Code of Ethics mandates that Barksdale be in total compliance with The Insider Trading and Securities Fraud Enforcement Act of 1988. To accomplish this mandate, Barksdale has adopted a firm wide policy statement outlining insider trading compliance for Barksdale and its employees. Our policy prohibiting insider trading is distributed at the point of hire and annually thereafter, and is signed and dated by each Barksdale associated person.

Personal Securities Transactions

Our employees can engage in personal securities transactions as long as they report all personal trades for themselves and their household each quarter. Our Chief Compliance Officer tests these trades against client trades to make certain that employees do not receive a better price than clients and for compliance with our insider trading policy.

Personal securities transactions could raise potential conflicts of interest when such trades involve a security that is (1) owned by a client or (2) considered for purchase or sale for a client. Employees who wish to purchase or sell securities of the types purchased or sold for clients can do so as long as the trades are reported, do not violate the firm's blackout period policy or the account is managed by Barksdale and executed in a block trade with other clients with all getting the same price.

Gifts and Entertainment

A conflict of interest occurs when an employee's personal interest interferes with his/her responsibilities to the firm and our clients. It is our firm's policy that an employee should not offer or accept inappropriate gifts, favors, entertainment, special accommodations, or other things of material value that could influence their decision-making or make them feel beholden to a person or firm.

Political Contributions

Several employees of Barksdale are involved in cultural, civic, philanthropic, and political activities. Historically both Barksdale and its covered associates have made contributions to political campaigns and political parties and it is expected that such contributions will continue in the future. Therefore, the Firm has adopted a de minimis contribution policy pursuant to the exceptions outlined under Rule 206(4)-5(b) of the Advisers Act, which policy permits covered associates of Barksdale to contribute $350 per election to a candidate or an official for whom the covered associate is entitled to vote, and $150 per election to a candidate or an official for whom the covered associate is not entitled to vote. In order to make a contribution over the de minimis amount, a covered associate can request the prior approval of the firm by submitting a request form to the CCO. The CCO will review and evaluate each contribution request to determine whether the contribution can be made. Under our policy, covered associates are required to report all contributions on a quarterly basis. Please contact us directly for more information about our political contributions policy.

Charitable Contributions

From time to time, Barksdale donates to charitable organizations that are clients, supported by clients, and/or supported by an individual employed by one of our clients. In general, these donations are made in response to requests from clients or their personnel and are approved by our senior staff members.

Item 12: Brokerage Practices

We have discretionary authority to (a) buy, sell, exchange, convert or otherwise trade in any approved securities and (b) place orders for the execution of such securities transactions with or through such brokers-dealers that we select, subject to the terms of the client's advisory agreement, stated guidelines and objectives (investment policy statement) and directives.

Research and Other Soft Dollars Benefits

Barksdale does not have any soft dollar arrangements. We do not use client commissions, mark-ups or mark-downs to obtain fixed income research or other services.

Broker-dealers that execute client trades on our client's behalf generally provide research products and services to us. These products and services are unsolicited and are commonly referred to as "incidental benefits" which are received merely from utilizing the services of the broker-dealer.

Brokerage for Client Referrals

Neither Barksdale nor any of its employees recommend brokers or dealers in return for client referrals.

Directed Brokerage

Clients can direct us, in writing, to use a specific broker-dealer to execute some or all transactions for their account. If the client does so, we can no longer claim best execution on their behalf, so the client should consider the following information before making that request:

- there will be limited or no ability to negotiate commissions for the client;
- we will be unable to negotiate volume discounts;
- there will be disparity in commissions among clients;
- there will be an inability to obtain any of the benefits of block trades that we enter into for clients who have not directed us to use a particular broker-dealer; and
- the brokerage commissions and transaction fees charged by broker-dealers are exclusive of, and in addition to, our management fee.

Best Execution

As a fiduciary and money manager, we have an obligation to obtain best execution for client transactions based on the circumstances of each particular transaction. We consider the full range and quality of a broker-dealer's service in placing orders with brokerages including, among other things:

- execution capability;
- existing relationships;
- financial strength;
- reputation;
- pricing;
- reporting capabilities; and
- responsiveness to us as the money manager.

The determining factor is not solely the lowest possible commission cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution for the managed account.

Aggregation

We engage in block trading, a circumstance when securities are purchased or sold through the same broker-dealer for multiple discretionary accounts. However, some trades are "stepped out" to meet client-directed brokerage instructions.

In a step-out trade, a brokerage firm executes an entire order and then gives other firms a credit, or commission, for a specified piece of the trade. An example of a step-out trade is an order to a brokerage firm to purchase or sell 500,000 shares which could be stepped out to three other brokerage firms in blocks. For example, Firm A receives a block of 100,000 shares, Firm B receives a block of 250,000 shares, and Firm C receives a block of 150,000 shares, and all could receive the same per share commission.

The portfolio manager for each account must reasonably believe that the block trade is consistent with our duty to seek best execution and is in the best interest of those clients participating in the aggregated order.

Fixed income trades are executed in a manner to meet the characteristics of the specific client's portfolio. Trades for separate accounts will be aggregated into a single order when favorable to the clients. Occasionally, in order to achieve best execution, the same security may be traded separately in different accounts.

For Equity trades, the average price per share of each block trade is allocated to each account that participates in the block trade. Accounts that participate in the same block trade are charged the same commission rate, if applicable.

If a block trade cannot be executed in full at the same price or time, the securities actually purchased or sold by the close of each business day are allocated in a manner that is consistent with the initial pre-allocation. We strive to do this in a way that does not consistently advantage or disadvantage particular client accounts. For example, partial fills generally are filled pro rata among participating accounts. Prior to entry of a block trade, a written pre-allocation is generated, which identifies the group of client accounts participating in the order.

Changes in allocation prior to final allocation can be made for good cause provided that all client accounts receive fair and equitable treatment. An explanation of the reason for any material change in the allocation will be documented by the Portfolio Manager.

We are not obligated to include any client account in an aggregated trade. Transactions for a client's account will not be aggregated for execution if inconsistent with that client's guidelines. We strive to ensure that no client is favored over any other client. Advisory accounts of our employees can participate in block trades. They receive the same average price for all transactions that day and pay commissions and other transaction costs, if applicable, in accordance with their Advisory Agreement.

Some employees of Barksdale are also clients of the firm. Generally, securities are bought and sold for employees' accounts at the same time and at the same price as other clients' accounts. However, since various broker-dealers will be used to execute such transactions, the same prices may not be possible to achieve. In no case will an employee's account receive a better price than a client account.

Agency Transactions between Advisory Clients

Barksdale does not affect any principal or agency cross securities transactions for Client accounts. Principal transactions are generally defined as transactions where an adviser, acting as principal for its own account or the account of an affiliated broker-dealer, buys from or sells any security to any advisory Client. An agency cross transaction is defined as a transaction where an investment adviser, or any person controlled by or under common control with the investment adviser, acts as broker for both an advisory Client and for another person on the other side of the transaction. Should we decide in the future to effect principal trades or agency cross-trades in Client accounts, we will comply with the provisions of Rule 206(3) of the Advisers Act and update our ADV Part 2, accordingly.

Barksdale will, however, engage in internal cross transactions on behalf of clients' accounts. An internal cross transaction occurs when Barksdale causes a security to be traded between two Barksdale clients where it believes that such a transaction would be in the best interest of both clients involved. Barksdale will only perform such transactions where the purchase and sale of the same security at the same time by different clients helps to achieve more favorable terms to each client than placing separate transactions in the marketplace. The firm has adopted policies and procedures governing this activity, which includes, among other things, that neither Barksdale nor its investment adviser representatives will receive a commission or other compensation for this type of transaction. Moreover, we disclose to clients in the Advisory Agreement that we engage in cross trades. If the client is an ERISA account with under $100 million in plan assets, we effect cross transactions in conformity with the Department of Labor's requirements.

Item 13: Review of Accounts

All accounts are monitored on an ongoing basis and reviewed at intervals as agreed to with the client (and/or their designee) not less than annually. The reviews focus primarily on consistency of portfolio investments with objectives, benchmarks and risk tolerances. On an ongoing basis, performance is reviewed to monitor consistency with the benchmark that has either been provided by the client or agreed to by the client. Account reviews can also be triggered by changes in general economic and market conditions or by a change of investment guidelines. Performance is verified by an independent performance verification service.

In addition to the monthly and/or quarterly statements provided by Barksdale, clients (and/or their designees) generally also receive statements from the respective custodian. Custodian account statements are generated no less than quarterly and are sent directly from the account custodian. The account statement lists the account positions, the security cost basis, activity in the account over the covered period, and other related information, including all contributions and withdrawals from the account and current market value.

Our clients (and/or their designee) can also receive performance analysis reports prepared by us, which display the time weighted rates of return (a measure of the compound rate of growth which eliminates the distorting effects created by inflows and outflows of money through a portfolio) realized in the client's account.

Our client reports also generally consist of: (1) a list of client holdings by asset class that includes the purchase date, name of security, number of shares, purchase price per share, current price per share, current market value and realized gain/loss; (2) the account performance; and (3) the total market value of the account(s). These reports are provided upon client request and for "in person" client meetings.

Clients are urged to compare the statements received from Barksdale to those received from the account custodian.

The Portfolio Management Staff consistently conducts the following reviews of client accounts: portfolio composition for conformity to regulatory, firm, and client guidelines, asset allocation and performance reviews.

Item 14: Client Referrals and Other Compensation

We rely primarily on the marketing activities of our employees to solicit new business. However, we have entered into written compensation agreements with certain unaffiliated marketers.

Third Party Cash Promoters

We have entered into agreements with individuals and organizations that refer clients to Barksdale ("promoters"). All such agreements will be in writing and comply with the requirements of Rule 206(4)-1 of the Advisers Act. If a client is introduced to Barksdale by a promoter, Barksdale pays that promoter a fee in accordance with the requirements of Rule 206(4)-1 of the Advisers Act and any corresponding state securities law requirements. While the specific terms of each agreement differ, generally the compensation will be based upon Barksdale's engagement of new clients and the retention of those clients and is calculated using a varying percentage of the fees paid to Barksdale by such clients. Any such fee shall be paid solely from Barksdale's management fees and shall not result in any additional charge to the client.

Each prospective client who is referred to Barksdale under such an arrangement will receive a copy of our Form ADV Part 2 and a separate written disclosure document disclosing the nature of the relationship between the promoter and Barksdale and the amount of compensation that will be paid by Barksdale to the promoter.

Consultants

Many of our clients and prospective clients retain investment consultants to advise them on the selection and review of investment managers. We provide information concerning our investment strategies to consultants who use that information in connection with the searches they conduct for their clients. On occasion we respond to a request for proposal in connection with those searches. In addition, from time to time, consultants request information from us or provide direction to us concerning the accounts we manage for our mutual clients. We will cooperate with such consultants only with prior written approval of the client.

We do not compensate any consultant for making such introductions but we can have other interactions with them that could include the following:

- We pay for the opportunity to participate, along with other investment managers, in conferences or other organized events arranged by consultants. These events provide us with the opportunity to discuss a broad variety of business topics with consultants, clients and prospective clients.
- We do invite consultants to events or other entertainment hosted by our firm.

Item 15: Custody

We do not maintain custody of client assets except in the event that the management fee is paid directly to us from the custodial account. As discussed in Item 5: Fees, the client's custodian debit the account for the amount of Barksdale's advisory fee only if the client has provided authorization to us to do so in writing. Our clients receive, at a minimum, quarterly statements from the broker-dealer, bank or other qualified custodian that holds and maintains the investment assets. We urge clients to carefully review these statements and compare them to the account statements that we provide, as described in Item 13. Clients should verify that the transactions in both statements agree and are consistent with their investment goals and objectives. Should there be a conflict between custodial statements and reports by Barksdale, the custodial statement is the official statement. If you have any questions about your transactions, please contact us.

Item 16: Investment Discretion

Barksdale offers advisory services on a discretionary basis. Discretion is exercised in a manner that is consistent with the stated investment objectives for the account. We only exercise discretion in accounts where we have been authorized to do so, in writing, by the client. Such authorization is typically included in the Advisory Agreement. Advance approval from clients to determine the type and amount of securities to be purchased and sold for their accounts is not required for Barksdale. We are authorized to, without prior consent, choose broker-dealers to be used (unless instructed otherwise by the clients in writing), negotiate brokerage commissions, and withdraw funds from accounts solely for the purpose of debiting our advisory fee, pursuant to the client's Advisory Agreement and as discussed in Items 5 and 15 herein.

Item 17: Voting Client Securities

For separately managed accounts, Barksdale generally does not take any action or give any advice with respect to voting of proxies solicited by or with respect to the issuers of securities in which client assets are invested. If a client requests such service in writing, we can expressly agree in writing to make an exception. In these cases, Barksdale engages a third-party administrator to facilitate the proxy voting process. This administrator is retained to conduct proxy research, analyze each proxy proposal, and execute the proxy vote. They keep various records for tracking proxy voting materials and proxy voting actions taken for the client account.

Barksdale votes proxies for our model delivery clients.

If you would like a copy of our Proxy Voting Policy, please contact us.

In addition, we do not take any action or give any advice with respect to any securities held in any accounts that are named in or subject to class action lawsuits. We do, however, forward to the client (or their custodian) any information received by us regarding class action legal matters involving any security held in the client's account. We do take action on tender offers and consents agreements with respect to client securities.

Item 18: Financial Information

We are required to provide clients with certain financial information or disclosures about our financial condition because we have discretionary authority over our clients' accounts. We have no financial commitment that impairs our ability to meet contractual and fiduciary commitments to the clients. We have not been the subject of a bankruptcy proceeding.

Proxy Voting

Policy

It is the general policy of Barksdale to not vote proxies as Barksdale is primarily an institutional fixed income advisor. However, since we do manage some equity accounts, Barksdale will consider voting their proxies. If a client requests in writing and Barksdale expressly agrees in writing to make such an exception, Barksdale will use its best efforts to ensure that its proxy voting benefits the clients. Where Barksdale may be required to vote proxies of ERISA clients, Barksdale will use its best effort to vote proxies to ensure that it's voting benefits plan participants. Barksdale has retained a third-party proxy voting administrator ("proxy agent") to facilitate the proxy voting process. This proxy agent conducts proxy research, analyzes each proxy proposal and executes the proxy vote. They also keep various records for tracking proxy voting materials and proxy voting actions taken for the client's account.

Our policy and practice includes the responsibility to monitor corporate actions received in addition to voting client proxies (if requested). Barksdale will make information available to clients about the voting of proxies for their portfolio securities and maintaining relevant and required records. We do take action on tender offers and consents agreements with respect to client securities held in custody

Background

Proxy voting is an important right of shareholders and reasonable care and diligence must be undertaken to ensure that such rights are properly and timely exercised.

Investment advisers registered with the SEC, and which exercise voting authority with respect to client securities, are required by Rule 206(4)-6 of the Advisers Act to (a) adopt and implement written policies and procedures that are reasonably designed to ensure that client securities are voted in the best interests of clients, which must include how an adviser addresses material conflicts that may arise between an adviser's interests and those of its clients; (b) to disclose to clients how they may obtain information from the adviser with respect to the voting of proxies for their securities; (c) to describe to clients a summary of its proxy voting policies and procedures and, upon request, furnish a copy to its clients; and (d) maintain certain records relating to the adviser's proxy voting activities when the adviser does have proxy voting authority.

Staff Legal Bulletin No. 20 was jointly published by the SEC's Division of Investment Management and Division of Corporation Finance on June 30, 2014. The Division of Investment Management provided guidance about investment advisers' responsibilities in voting client proxies and retaining proxy advisory firms, while the Division of Corporation Finance addressed the availability and requirements of two exemptions to the federal proxy rules that are often relied upon by proxy advisory firms.

Proxy Voting Advice as a Solicitation Under the Exchange Act

On July 22, 2020, the SEC adopted amendments to its rules governing proxy solicitations. The amendments specify that proxy voting advice generally constitutes a solicitation within the meaning of Section 14(a) of the Exchange Act.

The Commission noted several factors that indicate proxy voting advice businesses generally engage in solicitations when they provide proxy voting advice to their clients, including:

- The proxy voting advice generally describes the specific proposals that will be presented at the registrant's upcoming meeting and presents a "vote recommendation" for each proposal that indicates how the client should vote;
- Proxy voting advice businesses market their expertise in researching and analyzing matters that are subject to a proxy vote for the purpose of assisting their clients in making voting decisions;
- Many clients of proxy voting advice businesses retain and pay a fee to these firms to provide detailed analyses of various issues, including advice regarding how the clients should vote through their proxies on the proposals to be considered at the registrant's upcoming meeting or on matters for which shareholder approval is sought; and
- Proxy voting advice businesses typically provide their recommendations shortly before a shareholder meeting or authorization vote, enhancing the likelihood that their recommendations will influence their clients' voting determinations.

The Commission observed that where these or other significant factors are present, the proxy voting advice businesses' voting advice generally would constitute a solicitation subject to the Commission's proxy rules because such advice would be "a communication to security holders under circumstances reasonably calculated to result in the procurement, withholding or revocation of a proxy."

Exemptions

The SEC recognizes two exemptions to the solicitation rule:

1. When a business that provides proxy voting services does not provide any voting recommendations and is instead exercising delegated voting authority on behalf of its clients; and
2. Any proxy voting advice provided by a person who furnishes such advice only in response to an unprompted request.

However, the persons who provide proxy voting advice in reliance on the exemptions must include in their voting advice to clients the conflicts of interest disclosure specified in new Rule 14a-2(b)(9)(i). Such persons must include in their voting advice (or in any electronic medium used to deliver the advice) prominent disclosure of:

- Any information regarding an interest, transaction, or relationship of the proxy voting advice business (or its affiliates) that is material to assessing the objectivity of the proxy voting advice in light of the circumstances of the particular interest, transaction, or relationship; and
- Any policies and procedures used to identify, as well as the steps taken to address, any such material conflicts of interest arising from such interest, transaction, or relationship.

On July 13, 2022, the SEC voted to rescind Rules 14a-2(b)(9)(ii-iv) which required proxy advisor firms to make their advice available and to provide clients with a mechanism to become aware of information before they vote. This became effective on September 19, 2022.

Responsibility

Senior Equity Portfolio Manager has the responsibility for the implementation and monitoring of our proxy voting policy, practices, disclosures and record keeping, including outlining our voting guidelines in our procedures.

Procedure

If Barksdale has been requested and agreed to vote proxies in writing, Barksdale will comply with these proxy voting responsibilities for these specific clients with the assistance of Barksdale's proxy agent according to the client's specified voting guidelines.

Barksdale will not take any action or render any advice with respect to any securities held in any accounts that are named in or subject to class action lawsuits. The client or their custodian specifically retains the authority to file claims of this nature. Barksdale will, however, forward to client or their custodian any information received by Barksdale regarding class action legal matters involving any security held in the account. Specific procedures are outlined below.

- Barksdale has engaged a proxy agent to provide the proxy voting process, for the agreed upon accounts, which includes: conducting proxy research, analyzing each proxy proposal, executing the proxy vote and keeping various records for tracking proxy voting materials and proxy voting actions taken for the client's account.
- Barksdale will notify both the proxy agent and the client's custodian that the proxy agent will act as Barksdale's proxy voting agent for the client's account. This will include appropriate instruction for delivery of clients' proxy ballots to the proxy agent. However, it is ultimately the responsibility of the client to have all proxy material sent to Barksdale or its designee.
- Barksdale will send a file to the proxy agent indicating the securities that must be voted and the accounts to which they correspond.
- Barksdale will monitor all votes on proxy matters.
- If Barksdale has agreed to vote proxies for a client, proxy voting reports will be generated per the client's request.
- If Barksdale becomes aware that we are not receiving proxies which are our responsibility to vote, we will so notify the proxy agent, particular client, custodian or issuer. The proxy agent may, but shall not be obligated, to take other steps to attempt to obtain the missing proxy in time to vote it.
- If Barksdale receives proxies which are not Barksdale's responsibility to vote, the proxies will be forwarded to the custodian or the client. A copy of the proxy will be kept in the file documenting when and where it was sent.
- Barksdale discloses its proxy voting policy in the firm's ADV Disclosure Brochure.

- The Advisory Agreement also notifies the client that Barksdale does not vote proxies unless requested and accepted in writing.

Proxy Agent

Proxies have been set up to be received by the proxy agent. In the absence of specific voting guidelines, the proxy agent will vote the proxy best interest of the client as decided from their research. On routine issues, they will generally vote with management in the majority of cases, while non-routine issues may be more frequently voted against management although the proxy agent reserves the right to vote otherwise. Where an issue is controversial (from the perspective of whether or not it is in the client's interest) or if a new policy question arises and there is no specific directive from the client on the particular issue, the proxy agent will vote the proxy in a timely and appropriate manner in the clients best interest as derived from their research. Barksdale reserves the right to overrule the proxy agent's vote.

A Partial List of Routine Issues include:

- Elections of Directors, including the number and terms of office, attendance, and the number of meetings held.
- Appointment of auditors.
- Stock splits, dividend, and fractional share issues.
- Application for listing of securities.
- Corporate name changes.
- Remuneration of management, directors, and employees. Employee Stock Option Plans.
- Pollution, environment, or conservation issues.
- Employment issues.
- Restore or eliminate pre-emptive rights.
- Fees paid to auditors for consultants.
- Business abroad.
- Date, location of annual meeting.
- Contributions to charity or for education.
- The operation and construction of nuclear power plants.
- All other items which aren't expected to have a material adverse effect on the price of stock.
- Increases in authorized shares, common or preferred. Non-Routine Issues include:
- Acquisitions, mergers, and spin-offs.
- Significant changes in the Articles of Incorporation or By-Laws, such as anti-takeover provisions, "poison pills", and "rights" issues.
- Proxy fight or other control contest.
- Cumulative voting issues.
- Golden parachute plans or any unusual compensation benefits to be awarded contingent upon the merger or acquisition of the particular company.

The principal materials used for the basis of our voting decision will be summarized or referenced in the proxy voting file. These materials include:

- proxy statements received regarding client securities (this may be satisfied by relying on the proxy agent to provide a copy promptly upon request);
- a record of each vote cast (third party records similarly permitted);
- a copy of any document created by the proxy agent that was material to making a decision how to vote proxies on behalf of a client or that memorializes the basis for that decision; and
- each written client request for proxy voting records and the adviser's written response to any (written or oral) client request for such records.

Conflicts of Interest

There may be instances where the interest of Barksdale may conflict or appear to conflict with the interest of its clients. However, Barksdale has chosen to engage a proxy agent to vote proxies in the hope of limiting conflicts. This proxy agent prides itself on avoiding, mitigating and disclosing conflicts of interest to the maximum extent possible. As a result, this proxy agent does not enter into business relationships that conflict with its mission: "To serve institutional participants in the capital markets with objective advice and services". However, the proxy agent does recognize it is not possible to be completely conflict free. Where conflicts or potential conflicts exist, it is absolutely critical for advisors to proactively and explicitly disclose those conflicts in a manner that is transparent and readily accessible for clients.

Recordkeeping

Senior Equity Portfolio Manager shall retain the following proxy records in accordance with the SEC's five-year retention requirement.

- these policies and procedures and any amendments;
- each proxy statement that Barksdale receives;
- a record of each vote that Barksdale casts;
- any document Barksdale created that was material to making a decision how to vote proxies, or that memorializes that decision including periodic reports to Senior Equity Portfolio Manager or proxy committee, if applicable; and
- a copy of each written request from a client for information on how Barksdale voted such client's proxies, and a copy of any written response.

Class Action Settlement Procedures

- The Advisory Agreement and disclosure brochure notifies the client that we do not take any action or render any advice with respect to class action lawsuits.
- If a client inquires about filing a claim of this nature, they are to be referred to their custodian for assistance.
- If Barksdale receives information related to class action legal matters, the information will be forwarded to the client or custodian, as appropriate.

- Any information received and forwarded to clients in reference to such claims will be maintained in a subject and/or client file, as appropriate.

Third-Party Proxy Advisory Firm

In addition to conducting initial due diligence prior to engaging the services of any third-party proxy service firm, Barksdale will:

- monitor and review such services at least annual;
- evaluate any conflicts of interest, consistency of voting with guidelines, assessment of the proxy service firm's accurate analysis of relevant information, and fees and disclosures;
- consider whether the proxy advisory firm has adequately disclosed its methodologies in formulating voting recommendations;
- review any third-party information sources that the proxy advisory firm uses as a basis for its voting recommendations; and
- consider whether the proxy advisory firm has the capacity and competency to adequately analyze voting matters, including staffing personnel and/or technology and whether the proxy voting firm has an effective process for seeking timely input from issuers and proxy advisory firm clients.
